

From: Abby Murphy <abbymurphy@learninghaven.com>

Date: Thu, Sep 3, 2020, 5:55 PM

Subject: Following up for my students

To: <sykes41451@gmail.com>

Hello!

I hope you are doing well and staying safe. My name is Abby and I am a teacher for an online social study summer program for kids. We have been discussing family activities where camping & hiking come up among the popular activities suggested by the kids. While looking for further information on recreational transportation, we came across your web page <http://www.newyorkgoodsam.com/camping-links.html>! We want to say thank you for providing this excellent resource of information.

I encouraged the group to search for more information for extra credit in the class. One of my students, Tony, found this page about RV maintenance - <https://www.carcovers.com/resources/how-to-keep-your-rv-looking-like-new-and-running-forever/>

Would you mind adding a link to it on your website, even if it is just for a little while? I would like to show the increasingly large group of online students that they can accomplish things if they aren't afraid to come out of their shells and simply ask, especially while being in so much isolation these days! It will also be very helpful for me to show future classes how they can find other valuable resources by using this as an example.

Please let me know if you'd be willing to help so I can share the exciting news with them!

Abby